PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED DURING JANUARY-FEBRUARY 1970

BULLETIN OF THE MONTH

Growing Ground Covers
Home and Garden Bulletin No. 175

Discusses ground covers, and describes the most commonly grown ones. Gives instructions on planting, spacing, growing, and propagation. The two most common methods of propagation—making cuttings and dividing are given with step-by-step explanation.

FARMERS' BULLETINS

Farm lighting. (F 2243) 16 p. 10¢.

Describes the characteristics of farm lighting, and gives details on lighting equipment, and wiring requirements. Discusses the lighting needs for outdoor areas, and its use in grading farm products.

Catfish farming: A new farm crop. (F 2244) 22 p. 15¢.

Tells how to produce profitable crops of catfish in farm ponds. Three species of catfish—channel, blue, and white—can be grown. Pointers on selection, stocking, feeding, harvesting, and marketing are discussed.

LEAFLETS

Horn flies on cattle: How to control them. (L 388) 8 p. 10¢.

Discusses life stages of horn flies and their effect on cattle. Methods of control by spraying, dusting, dipping, and the use of a treated back rub are given. Precautions on the handling of insecticides are included.

The spotted alfalfa aphid: How to control it. (L 422) 8 p. 20¢.

This revised leaflet describes the appearance and development of the spotted alfalfa aphid and the damage it does. Methods of control by using insecticides, and varieties of plants that are aphid resistant are given. Precautions for safe use of insecticides are emphasized.

HOME AND GARDEN BULLETINS

How to buy meat for your freezer. (G 166) 28 p. 20¢.

Revised bulletin describes the alternatives in buying meat by the carcass, wholesale cuts, or retail cuts. It discusses kinds of cuts, amount to expect from a carcass, and how to compare costs. Beef, lamb, and pork carcass charts are illustrated.

Meat and poultry: Clean for you. (G 173) Folder. 10¢.

Explains the regulations and guidelines of the USDA Consumer and Marketing Service for meat packers and poultry processors to insure that their products are clean and wholesome. Plant layouts, equipment, and materials are Federally inspected for cleanliness. Both USDA and the States work together to see that meat and poultry plants are as sanitary as possible.

Meat and poultry: Care tips for you. (G 174) 12 p. 20¢.

This new bulletin gives consumers tips on buying, handling, storing, and cooking meat and poultry products to keep them wholesome. What inspectors do to assure wholesomeness for consumers is discussed briefly. Storage and cooking charts for meat and poultry products are included.

Growing ground covers. (G 175) 16 p. 15¢.

See Bulletin of the Month.

Equine infectious anemia (EIA).

Sound, color, 16-mm., 16¼ minutes.

This is a disease that affects horses, mules, and burros. EIA, also known as Swamp Fever, is found in all areas of the United States. Highly infectious, EIA is spread by mosquitoes, biting flies, and by use of contaminated equipment such as tack and hypodermic needles. The film clearly outlines precautionary measures and appeals to all horse owners and trainers to use utmost care with their animals. Produced in cooperation with Texas A&M University. TV cleared.

Man against fire. Sound, color, 16-mm, 28 minutes.

The story of man's fight to save forest resources from destruction by wildfire—by use of his brain power and experience; muscle power and stamina, and technology, and strategy. Federal, State, and local cooperative fire control measures protect our Nation's water supply, timber, wildlife, recreation areas, and scenic wonders of the forests. TV cleared.

JULY 1970

PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED DURING MAY-JUNE 1970

BULLETIN OF THE MONTH

Family Fare: A Guide to Good Nutrition Home and Garden Bulletin No. 1

In this publication you'll find: A daily food guide; tips on meal planning; facts about important nutrients; helpful information on buying, storing, measuring, and using foods; a selection of recipes (main dishes, vegetables, salads, soups, sauces, breads, sandwiches, desserts) plus variations of some of these recipes; menu suggestions; and a list of cooking terms.

LEAFLETS

Production of parsley. (L 136) Folder.

This leaflet tells how to produce, harvest, and market parsley. Two types of parsley are available: The foliage-type, grown for its leaves; and the turnip-rooted type, grown for the root. Directions for planting, care, and cultivation are included in this leaflet, as well as instructions on the control of weeds by chemicals.

Dwarf fruit trees: Selection and care. (L 407) 8 p. 10¢.

Dwarf fruit trees are developed in the nursery to meet a demand for trees that require less growing space than those of standard size. Dwarfs begin to bear earlier than standard trees, but this does not affect the size or quality of the fruit. This bulletin tells how to select dwarf fruit trees from a nursery and how to take care of them. It also discusses dwarfing methods, rootstocks and intergrafts, diseases and insects, and varieties of apple and pear trees.

HOME AND GARDEN BULLETINS

Family fare: A guide to good nutrition. (G 1) 91 p. 45¢.

See Bulletin of the Month.

Equipment for cooling your home. (G 100) 8 p. 10¢.

This bulletin describes four ways to cool a home—with fans, water, air conditioners, heat pumps. It discusses circulation and flow of air in each method; the cost of cooling equipment and installation; the size equipment to consider, depending on the size of a person's home; the advantages or disadvantages of each method; and the areas in which each works most effectively.

Minigardens for vegetables. (G 163) 12 p. 15¢.

Want to grow vegetables, but lack the space? All you need to start a minigarden is a windowsill, a balcony, or a doorstep. This revised bulletin describes the basic materials required—some containers, synthetic soil, and seeds. Planting and harvesting dates, cultural practices, light requirements, and number of days between seeding and harvesting are discussed.

Nuts in family meals: A guide for consumers. (G 176) 14 p. 10¢.

This bulletin is a guide to buying, storing, and using nuts. It discusses kinds of nuts available, how they are marketed, how to prepare them for use, how to roast or toast them, and quality in nuts. The recipes feature nuts in main dishes, vegetables, salads, soups, breads, sandwiches, desserts, and snacks. It includes approximate calorie values for commonly used nuts. Gardening on the contour. (G 179) Folder. 10¢.

This is a new illustrated folder that tells how to plan a garden on the contour to hold the soil and conserve water. Rock terraces are suggested for steep slopes.

AGRICULTURAL ECONOMIC REPORTS

Human resources in the Ozarks region . . . with emphasis on the poor. (AER 182) 51 p. 60¢.

Focus for area development analysis: Urban orientation of counties. (AER 183) 19 p.

The eternal forest. Sound, color, 16-mm, 20½ minutes.

Deals with the popular subject of man and his environment—specifically forests and woodlands. The ravage of North America’s primeval forests, and the gross neglect of our bountiful heritage in the years of our nation’s dynamic growth and expansion, is effectively illustrated. With growing awareness of the extent of depletion, the the film describes the efforts to restore nature’s balance which began at the turn of the Century. Today’s sensible balance between use of our forest’s resources, and their protection for future generations, is highlighted at the conclusion of the picture. Narrated by Gregory Peck. TV cleared.

BULLETIN OF THE MONTH

Nutritive Value of Foods Home and Garden Bulletin No. 72

The greater part of this bulletin consists of a table of nutritive values for household measures of commonly used foods. This table shows the food values in 615 foods commonly used in this country. Most foods listed are in ready-to-eat form and the weight in grams is shown for an approximate measure of each food. The approximate measure is in cups, ounces, pounds, or some other well-known unit. Values are shown for protein, fat, fatty acids, carbohydrate, two minerals, and five vitamins. This bulletin also contains a table showing yield of cooked meat per pound of raw meat and another showing recommended daily dietary allowances.

FARMERS' BULLETINS

Making and preserving apple cider.
(F 2125) 14 p. 10¢.

Apple cider can be an important and profitable source of income to apple growers throughout the country. This bulletin gives them information on selecting and blending the apples (including recommendations on varieties to use), grading and washing the fruit, grinding and pressing it. It also tells growers how to preserve the juice by refrigeration, freezing, pasteurization, or chemicals and the kind of containers to use. Information on plant design and equipment, sanitation, and fly control is included.

Prints are available for loan from land-grant university film libraries and other universities cooperating with USDA.

Who shall reap? Sound, color, 16-mm., 28 minutes.

Dramatizes the never-ending struggle of farmers the world over to protect their crops and livestock from the ravages of insects, diseases, weeds, and other pests. It contrasts the primitive ineffectual pest control methods still in use in many parts of the world with sophisticated modern control technology developed in this country and the substantial benefits to the consumer and to the nation resulting from the use of this technology. The film focuses on current research efforts to develop even more efficient, safer methods of protecting food, fiber, and forests from pests to meet the needs of an exploding world population. TV cleared.

The National Arboretum. Sound, color, 16-mm., 13½ minutes.

Shows the sharp contrast between the hubbub of the Nation's Capital and the serene and beautiful showplace of living plants—The National Arboretum in Washington. The four seasons are compressed into this short tour where you can watch scientists at work and look at the vivid colors of thousands of azaleas, rhododendrons, and other blooms. The film includes a sequence taken in the Far East, showing a USDA scientist collecting plants for developing new ornamentals to beautify America. There's something for everyone: gardener, traveler, scientist, homeowner and school child. TV cleared.

BULLETIN OF THE MONTH

Simple Plumbing Repairs for the Home and Farmstead Farmers' Bulletin No. 2202

With a few rudimentary tools, a farmer or homeowner can make minor repairs to the pipings and fixtures that control the distribution of water on his farmstead or in his home. This bulletin lists many of these tools, as well as spare parts, and gives a step-by-step procedure for repairing several types of water fixtures. Water faucets and valves, frostproof hydrants, leaks in pipes and tanks and water closets are some of the fixtures covered. How to clear clogged drains and the action to take in the event of emergencies are also included.

FARMERS' BULLETINS

Simple plumbing repairs for the home and farmstead. (F 2202) 14 p. 10¢.
See Bulletin of the Month.

LEAFLETS

Blight of pears, apples and quinces. (L 187) Folder 10¢.

This revised leaflet describes and discusses blight and how to control it, how it invades and damages fruit trees, and how it over-winters.

Sprinkler irrigation. (L 476) 8 p. 15¢.

"Sprinkler irrigation" gives pertinent information on irrigation systems that distribute water by spraying it over fields. It names the four parts that usually make up a sprinkler system and describes each—sprinklers, pipelines, pumping plants, and debris-removal equipment. Choosing the right system is so important that the leaflet expands the discussion under this heading by explaining how sprinkler systems are classified and then describing in detail seven types of mechanized systems. System design, operation, and maintenance are also discussed.

HOME AND GARDEN BULLETINS

The European earwig: How to control it around the home. (G 75) Folder 10¢.

The European earwig is a nuisance in and around the home because of its foul odor, habit of feeding at times in kitchen refuse and its destructiveness to plants and flowers. The bulletin describes the earwig's appearance, how it lives and spreads, but emphasizes control of the insect. Steps are given in preparing and applying bait and directions for dusting or spraying with a chemical when bait may not be effective.

Controlling mosquitoes in your home and on your premises. (G 84) 8 p. 10¢.

Divided into four main parts, this bulletin explains how mosquitoes breed; tells how to eliminate breeding places, how to kill larvae and adult mosquitoes outdoors, indoors, and in fish ponds and ornamental pools. It also tells the reader repellents to use against mosquito bites and how to use them. Since mosquitoes can sometimes pose a serious problem by transmitting diseases such as malaria and encephalitis, this bulletin should be very useful to gardeners, homeowners, and others who live where mosquitoes breed and are prevalent.

Controlling the eastern tent caterpillar. (G 178) 6 p. 10¢.

This bulletin describes the appearance and habits of the eastern tent caterpillar, a pest of wild cherry, apple, plum, peach, pear, rose, hawthorn, and various shade and forest trees. It tells how to control the insect with sprays and gives the formulations and amount of insecticide needed. It also tells how to control the insect by hand methods.

The National Arboretum. Sound, color, 16-mm., 13½ minutes.

Shows the sharp contrast between the hubbub of the Nation's Capital and the serene and beautiful showplace of living plants—The National Arboretum in Washington. The four seasons are compressed into this short tour where you can watch scientists at work and look at the vivid colors of thousands of azaleas, rhododendrons and other blooms. The film includes a sequence taken in the Far East, showing a USDA scientist collecting plants for developing new ornamentals to beautify America. There's something for everyone: gardener, traveler, scientist, homeowner and school child. TV cleared.

New guidelines for the well-landscaped home. Sound, color, 16-mm., 14 minutes.

Outlines in simple terms and, by the use of live action and animation, clearly visualizes the things one should know before undertaking any landscaping project. Shows examples of successful landscapes, various uses for trees, shrubs and flowers, and ideas for incorporating related materials into overall design. Each step of proper landscaping is explained and elaborated for the viewer. TV cleared.
